SpringPod_ the truth about universities

Universities always put their best foot forward when trying to attract undergraduates. And why wouldn't they?

For you, this means that trying to find the right place and course to study can be tricky as it's difficult to find an unbiased source; especially when the final UCAS deadline and prospects about entering clearing start to loom as exam season draws to a close.

Enter, the University Experience Hub.

Our University Experience Hub is the go to place for you to gather resources and consume content to help you make that decision. We are that unbiased source of university information for young people.

You can explore relevant statistics about each university, watch our Subject Spotlights, hear about the financial and social side of uni and book yourself onto open days all within this one platform.

Check it out here.
